REB Employees Continue to Shine: Dennis Tarnowski Promoted to Engineering Manager

Chicago, IL, 2/1/2012 – Six-year REB employee Dennis Tarnowski has recently been promoted to Engineering Manager. Beginning his career at REB designing material handling systems, Dennis quickly excelled to become a Project Manager, handling multi-million dollar installations.

Dennis is excited to take on his new role as Engineering Manager, stating “I am pleased that REB has given me the opportunity to grow within the organization.” Some key responsibilities Dennis will carry out include reviewing and improving design standards within the Engineering Department, reviewing profitability of all projects with the Director of Project Management, overseeing the digitizing of all archive files and evaluating and creating meaningful reports with our SAP system.

Dennis Tarnowski

REB endeavors to improve where necessary in order to provide our customers with an exceptional experience every time. This is a value that Dennis will bring to his new position, saying “By digitizing all of REB’s archive files we will be able to streamline our information much quicker with our clients. Developing new reports within SAP will allow us to easily identify cost saving opportunities to our clients.”

We are fortunate to have Dennis so involved in our company and look forward to his accomplishments!
