

Modular Offices

REB Storage Systems International

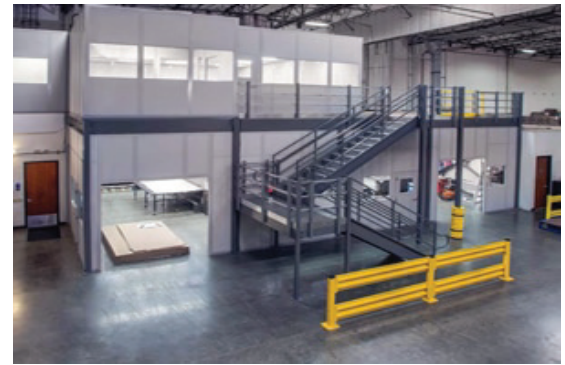

If your facility would benefit from an office area for managers, human resource professionals or other personnel, the costs associated with remodeling your space can be high. Modular offices are the ideal alternative to remodeling and are a quick way to add office space to your facilities.

Full Customer Support

Our professional customer service team here at REB Storage Systems International is available to help you through every step of the buying process. We can help you determine what model from our modular office collection is the best option for your needs and the conditions in your facility. We'll ensure that all of your questions are answered and explain the differences between the modular office models that we carry. When you're ready to buy, we'll ship your modular office quickly and be available to answer your questions about installation and upkeep.

Options to Suit Your Needs

REB Storage Systems International has a wide range of modular offices available for every environment. We carry modular offices in a variety of sizes, so whether you need space for just one employee or a whole team, there's something in our collection that is perfect for your space. All of our modular offices come complete with doors and many include windows to allow for observation of work areas. In addition, our furniture design group can help provide furniture solutions with a focus on ergonomics

Quality Craftsmanship

At REB Storage Systems International, we work with the top manufacturers of modular offices to provide our customers with solutions that are built to last. We carefully research the products of each manufacturer we work with and select only the most well-built and cost-effective models to include in our collection. This means you'll get the very best modular office solution for your space at a competitive price to suit your budget.
